

The UFO Enigma

A Publication of the UFO Study Group of Greater St. Louis

Volume 21 - Number 10 - June 2001

"The Paradigm of Interstellar War Between Good and Evil: BATTLEGROUND EARTH!", Ellen Sheire, 2 P.M., June 10, at Grones.

If you have ever wondered what Col. Charles Lindbergh, hero of the first solo airplane flight across the Atlantic, honored pilot in world War II and spokesperson for many conservative citizens thought about the investigation of UFOs, don't miss Ellen Sheire's lecture, 2 p.m. Sunday, June 10 at Grone's Cafeteria, Yorkshire Plaza.

If you are interested in psychiatrist Carl Jung's arguments against governmental cover-ups of solid UFO reports and fabricated disinformation disseminated by the media, be sure to attend the 2 -4:30 p.m., Sunday June 10 UFO Study Group meeting at Grone's Cafeteria, Watson at LaCleda Station Road, Saint Louis, Missouri.

If you can stand the shock of comparing Carl Jung's prophetic warnings about the damage continued official withholding of the truth about UFOs from U.S. citizens would do with our current moral, social, political situations, you will certainly want to hear M.A. Clinical Psychologist. Ellen Sheire, who is a Certified Analyst after five years at the Carl Jung Institute in Switzerland! Her topic, "The Paradigm of Interstellar War Between Good and Evil: BATTLEGROUND EARTH!" will shake you.

Ellen will not lecture at you. As she differentiates the Jung-Lindbergh UFO opinions... as she details Jung's perceptive prophecy about secrecy endangering us in the U.S. ... as she cites similar warning signals given by contemporary psychologists and UFO researcher Don Berliner, Ellen Sheire will lead you into discussing, "What do you think are the reasons for the government-media-military-industrial UFO cover-up?" Or do you believe - with professional debunker Phillip Klass - published in both popular and science journals, that "UFO reports are misinterpretations of natural phenomena, outright hoaxes, or products of chemically unbalanced minds?"

The Board of Directors of the UFOSG expects the meeting 2 p.m., June 10 at Grone Cafeteria, Yorkshire Plaza, Watson at LaCleda Station Road, St. Louis, MO to be a battleground for conflicting ideas. Shocking facts may upset you; but the food eaten in fellowship with friendly UFO buffs before the meeting won't upset you a bit. WE'LL BE LOOKING FOR YOU AT THIS LAST SUMMER 2001 UFOSG!

The Enigma is a publication of the UFO Study Group of Greater St. Louis, and is published monthly, September through June each year. Not affiliated with any national society, the UFO Study Group is an independent, non-profit organization dedicated to the investigation and reporting of both area and national UFO sightings and peripheral areas of interest. Yearly membership is $20.00. You may contact the UFO Study Group or any of its members and/or submit articles for publication through the UFO Study Group of Greater St. Louis, Inc., P.O. Box 31544, St. Louis, MO 63131. Please include self-addressed stamped envelope for materials to be returned.

ANCESTRAL MEMORY

(Condensed from The Open Mind, Vol. 2, No. 2, author unknown)

It may be easier for you than for another to confirm in amazing ways Swiss psychologist Jung's theory.

As the staff car approached Abersychen, Wales, in 1965, Lt. Col. Charles E. Melchar of the United States Third Air Force Headquarters had an experience verging on supernatural.

Colonel Melchar never had been to Wales before in his life. Yet suddenly he began "recognizing" landmarks along the route—old castles with crumbling walls and stagnant moats, ancient churches, houses, mines which once produced black coal, streams and tiny details of terrain. And he described these things to fellow officer, Lt. Col. J. E. McCoy, while they still were so far off they could not be seen in detail with the naked eye.

At first Melchar did this half-jokingly, explaining "hunches" about "what things look like up ahead." However, Colonel Melchar remembered reading several personnel records of men in both the eastern and western theaters of combat who had experienced similar notions. So after he was proven right time after time he began to wonder, particularly when he began to describe accurately the old buildings in villages still hidden by hills ahead.

He also noticed that he did not describe buildings less than one hundred years old.

As the day wore on, on several occasions he deliberately stood outside old buildings he was seeing for the first time and unerringly described their interiors—the location, construction and size of the rooms, the staircases and ornate fireplaces, the inlaid wood paneling and other specific details of the wood carving.

Colonel Melchar's strange faculty continued for a number of hours, over a route of more than 30 miles. It then ceased to function as abruptly as it had started.

"If I weren't absolutely certain that I've never been over that route before," Colonel Melchar said, "I'd say that I once lived for years in this part of Wales and no later than 100 years ago. But that of course is impossible."

"Perhaps it's ancestral memory," Colonel McCoy said. "I've heard that some people can remember things that happened to their ancestors back for thousands of years. It accounts for 'hunches' people have that they've been in totally strange places before. You know, the occurrence of vague notions of a past mental existence is very common, so common that based on it numerous and widespread systems of philosophy, especially the doctrine of the pre-existence of the human soul, have evolved in all ages."

On his return to the United States in August, 1965, Colonel Melchar, who never before had been interested in his ancestry, had his family tree traced. He found that his great-great-grandfather had been a Welsh coal miner named Alexander Price who lived in Pontypool near Abersychan, Wales, until 1848 when he emigrated to Braddock, Pennsylvania, at the age of 31. In Pennsylvania Price had mined coal for 13 years until he eventually had settled down near what is now Sandusky, Ohio.

Colonel Melchar stated that his eerie experiences did not end when he left Wales. He said that although he has never been inside a mine of any type he can concentrate and describe in detail and even design vents, shafts, reinforcement beams, buttresses, etc., of a mine passage super-structure.

He also stated he can read with ease unfamiliar Welsh works (poems, epic tales, etc.) written in the old Celtic language. On several occasions while writing pensive letters to old acquaintances he has found himself using words and sentence structures of the original Celtic rather than the contemporary version.

This case raises a number of questions: Does ancestral memory truly exist? Within the minds of some of us is there a chronicle of the past extending back to the first appearance of our remotest ancestor on this planet? If so, how complete and accurate is this ancestral memory? How frequently and under what circumstances is it manifested? Is it a faculty that is dormant in most of us most of the time but that can be awakened and put to profitable use?

Dr. Robert Thompson, Research Psychologist of the Neuropsychiatric Institute and Associate Professor of Medical Psychology at the University of California states unequivocally, "The phenomenon of deja vu, the strange nature of dreams and universality of symbolism have led persons to theorize that part of the content of the unconscious mind is a product of biological inheritance (race memory)." For example, Carl Jung and to some extent Sigmund Freud believed that a portion of the material in dreams is a remnant of the mental life of our ancestors.

Dr. Thompson's opinions are supported from the the psychological point of view by one of the world's greatest pathologists, Rudolph Virchow, who wrote in his celebrated work Cellular Pathology, "The chief point in the application of histology to pathology is to obtain recognition of the fact that the cell is really the ultimate morphological element in which there is manifestation of life."

The distinguished zoologist and former sub-Director of the Pasteur Institute, Ellie Metchnikoff, in his volume The Nature of Man speaks of ancestral memories among lower forms of life, "Consider the case of the ladybird, driven by a preference for honey, which searches for it on flowers and meets only with failure, or of insects driven by their instincts into the flames, only to lose their wings and their lives..."

Affirming what Drs. Thompson, Virchow and Metchnikoff have said Carl Jung, the great Swiss psychologist, maintained that ancestral memory extends back to the first of our ancestors who were capable of developing memory of the dimmest sort. Those ancestors actually may have been creatures of a single cell.

Jung states flatly in his Modern Man in Search of a Soul, "My unconscious mind stretches far out of this environment, backwards in time...Just as man has the whole development of mankind in his body...gills in his neck for instance that go back to the fishes...so every man has the whole history of the world in his unconscious mind."

This is an astounding statement. It implies that since each man has had literally millions of human ancestors who have lived in every habitable area of the globe, his ancestral memory includes all of the experiences (only until the time in life that each successive ancestor either sired or conceived the next, of course) of every one of those ancestors.

It also suggests that ancestral memory did not begin with the first humans or subhumans but continues back in an unbroken stream to the earliest forms of life known to have been or believed to have been our ancestors. That is a span of millions of years.

The evidence of heredity shows that ancestral memory, like all other characteristics, is transmitted through the genes. Thus every newborn creature, human or otherwise, has the ancestral memories of two parents, four grandparents, 16 great-grand-parents and so on back through the centuries.

How can ancestral memory be developed and effectively utilized? First, it needs only exercise to be strengthened. Have you had "hunches" which proved to be correct? If so you might try treating your hunches with more respect—within the limits of prudence and reason, of course. In this way you can bring at least some of your ancestral memories out of your subconscious into your conscious mind.

One way to accomplish this is to concentrate on and try to expand such memories whenever they seem to occur. If a scene with which you are unfamiliar crosses your mind vaguely try to keep it from fading and try to pick out its details. Often you can expand the picture until you can identify it as belonging to some foreign country or city or epoch in time.

Hold onto these mental images as long as possible and then try to recall them from time to time. They will tend to become more vivid and more detailed. On the days when you have attempted these recalls they will be very apt to recur, with added vividness and detail, after you have gone to bed and to sleep.

Try to remember your dreams when you awaken. Dreams often are incidents from ancestral memory. And finally, practice summoning your ancestral memories. For this, complete mental and physical relaxation is essential. Perhaps the best approach is to lie comfortably in bed with your eyes closed. No light should penetrate your eyelids. Think back to your earliest memory. It may be of burning your hand on a stove when you were two years old. Try to remember what happened that same day before you burned your hand.

Do the faces of persons you don't recognize appear to you? Try to visualize these faces clearly; you probably will place them at some moment during future mental exercises. These of course are not ancestral memories. But the exercise stimulates the memory centers of your subconscious and eventually will aid in the release of ancestral memories.

Many authorities believe that with practice ancestral memory can be awakened to a considerable degree. Since we all possess it in latent form there is no reason why you cannot succeed in awakening yours.

And if you are ever in a place you know you have not visited before but which nevertheless seems strangely familiar to you don't put it down to delusion or even to reincarnation. It is quite possible some one of your ancestors actually was there and you are remembering what he or she saw.

Former Government Employees Say It's Time to Reveal UFO Evidence

5-10-1

ABCNews.com - That's according to a group of about 20 former government workers, many of them military and security officials, who stepped forward on Wednesday to say they had witnessed evidence of aliens and unidentified flying objects and called for congressional hearings about such sightings.

"These testimonies establish once and for all that we are not alone," said Steven Greer, director of the Disclosure Project, a nonprofit research organization dedicated to disclosing alleged alien sightings.

Greer, who organized the program at the National Press Club in Washington, argued that the United States and other governments have known about UFOs for at least 50 years and have been keeping the information secret.

Greer said there were some 400 witnesses who claim to have firsthand experience with UFO sightings or alien evidence, and are willing to testify before Congress.

Among them is Daniel Sheehan, a well-known Washington lawyer who is acting as counsel for members of Greer's group.

Sheehan told reporters that during the Carter administration he found out about government-held UFO information that then-CIA Director George Bush, father of the current president, would not release.

Sheehan said he was then led into the National Archives, where he was shown photographs of captured UFOs, complete with what appeared to be alien writing symbols, but he was only allowed to take notes on a yellow legal pad. He traced the photos onto the cardboard back of his pad, he said.

International UFO Cabal? James Oberg, an ABCNEWS space consultant and retired NASA engineer, says Greer has long argued "there's this bizarre theory that there is a worldwide real X-file cabal that is using UFO technology."

But Oberg noted not every witness attending the conference necessarily subscribed to Greer's theory, and says those attending the press conference shouldn't be mocked.

"People see strange things they can't understand, and that can't be explained either then or in hindsight, and it's good to keep documenting these, because often the mysterious sightings are things of interest, to military intelligence or even to science."

Oberg says people sometimes can be too quick to conclude that the explanation is little green men.

"Often, I've seen people jump to conclusions about what they saw, because, after all, to have been scared by a distant fireball can be embarrassing but to have encountered an alien space ship is more exciting."

Military Denies UFOs

The U.S. government repeatedly has denied having any evidence of alien species, though it investigated UFOs for decades.

Disclosure Press Conference Review

By Dick Farley cloudrider@aol.com The American UFO Newsletter 5-10-1

I was there. (Actually I asked the last questions, of Dan Sheehan and Steven Greer. Sheehan answered his but Greer "didn't have time." Event over!) The event lasted two and a half hours; I do not know how much of it is archived. It is supposed to remain on the NPC site for six months, but you should watch it soon. I am told the Project Discovery (CSETI & Paradigm Research Group) site has it too.

The event was held in the ballroom (13th Floor) of the National Press Club in Washington (14th and F. Streets, NW). While the room is available for rental by anyone, it costs less if rented through a Press Club member. According to the manager of catering for the NPC, the Project Disclosure event was booked by Ms. Sarah MacClendon, a now-90-ish veteran White House reporter who has been a thorn in the sides of many Presidents who sought to keep the American people in the dark about something Sarah believed we needed to know. This is important to consideration of the Project Disclosure event.

It was well-connected, well-funded. There were references to Zero-Point Energy, anti-grav and other claims of technical advances some on this list are working on. You'll be happy to know you've already succeeded and that your technologies hold the keys to "stopping global warming" and "ending the energy crisis," among other benefits. Of course, the weaponization of space was a primary focus of the organizers (they're against it). But the real stars were the retired military officers and FAA officials, who are agreeing to testify before a Congressional committee if one can be prodded into holding open hearings on it.

One area of advance hype that did not happen were appearances via video tape of former astronauts Edgar Mitchell and Gordon Cooper. No mention was made of this and there was no video tape shown. The 21 "in person" witnesses each made a five-minute or less presentation, the majority of which were coherent and persuasive. As I am not given to hyperbole, and whatever one thinks about Greer and his gig, I do have to report that the event itself was professionally run and very well received. There is material now "out there" for intelligent public discussion of UFOs and ETs and if there are some on this list concerned about efforts to "start up a new religion" for the Technocratic Age, do fasten your seat belts, because here it comes! Now! Greer referred (without attribution) to Arthur Clarke's characterization of this time as "the end of humanity's childhood." I will leave it to you to see the event on the web.

What Greer & Company have formed is something I have called in the past a "nontraditional alliance," of former military folks who are decidedly conservative patriots working alongside abject liberals like Daniel Sheehan, who did legal work for the New York Times on the Pentagon Papers case and later was involved in the Karen Silkwood case (about Kerr-McGee's nuclear operations for DoE, in Texas, etc.). It is a fascinating mix and again, well worth personal review & analysis by each of you.

It had an impressive array of witness (21 present in the flesh), many with solid and public credentials. For the first time, some "official" folks having UFO sightings or knowledge are saying, in front of (a bank of 12-plus TV cameras and "real" press) that they will testify before Congress. This is one initiative the "Majestic-12" gang will find it impossible to ignore, and with Rumsfeld-Bush space policies up for review, it will be along lines of opening up "black budget" projects where Congress will dig.

Again, regardless of one's perspective or bias about the "players," today's event is singularly important because it's the best executed such initiative we've ever had. I have my own views, of course, about some of what was said. And no, I am NOT "drinking the Kool-Aid" (none was served). But rather than burn up the Internet with chaff and hearsay, this one is worth you science guys and others on-list tuning in. More later and I certainly will respond to questions and to clarify "hearsay," etc. It is important that this effort not degenerate into simply more disinformation and angry invective, personal attacks and accusations. Kudos to Greer and Steve Bassett for a program well-conducted.

As to "what it all means," what other motives or agendas are in play here, that will take months to gauge. Some of the "usual suspects" were present, of course, from the "Retail UFOlogy of Usual Kind" cadres, no doubt to find and amplify the weakest links or wildest tales, to again try and derail the campaign. But it won't work this time around. As Greer noted, today's event is the start of "a process."

My sense is THIS disclosure initiative is getting support from official, if not necessarily "political," levels in the government and military, with an eye toward perhaps "cleaning up" bad secrets from the Cold War corroding public confidence. There no doubt are elements of the "Matrix of UFO Beliefs" this particular group is not interested in addressing (at least publicly), such as "mind control" allegations or "angelic/demonic" interpretations of alien abductions, "hybridization" suspicions or the ultimate intentions of the "visiting others."

The mood expressed by principles of the organizing entities (sorry, couldn't resist :-)) is decidedly "peaceful surrender" to the "aliens," as Greer's rationale (as he expressed it during the Q. & A. period) is that if "they" wanted to harm us they already would have, given our bad treatment of them over the years. And Greer, Sheehan and others are, of course, of the "belief" that disclosure of what they are certain is at the heart of the UFO "cover-up" will be a planetary unification stimulus, which Greer and obviously his backers clearly favor. But for the present, Steven and his allies are focusing on the "real sightings" of an unexplained kind, letting the retired military and aviation officials "break trail" on it.

I'm waiting to gauge the media penetration, "spin" and any counterattacks before I weigh in with analysis or "local color." But I am glad I went in person, and I had an opportunity to interview a number of the witnesses one-on-one, without intervention or spinning by the organizers. Let's see how the fallout and counterattacks by those who do not favor "UFO disclosure" or "space demilitarization" takes shape. Later! If it's real, it has a politics. Once "disclosure" happens, the real debates begin!

Update - May 10, 2001

Disclosure Project Press Conference

By any reasonable criteria, the press conference held at the National Press Club on the morning of May 9 by the Disclosure Project, which is headed by Dr. Steven Greer, was a solid success.

For information on the testimony and other events to follow, go to: www.disclosureproject.org

Webcast Jamming

According to management of ConnectLive.com, which was airing the webcast of the Disclosure Project press conference, they were hit with sophisticated jamming. They had never experienced anything like it in the hundreds of webcasts they had conducted. It was not hacking and it was not the result bandwidth.

As a result the webcast was down for about 10 to 15% of the time. They received hundreds of queries as to what the problem was.

However, the press conference will be archived in its entirety for the next six months at:
www.connectlive.com/events/disclosureproject and a link to this will be up at:

DISCLOSURE PROJECT AN INITIAL SUCCESS

Dr. Greer and a dedicated unpaid staff have made a mighty first step towards the validation of UFOs and alien life forms. I consider it an honor to have participated with twenty former government employees who staked their reputations on the UFO concepts they expounded. Each of us had only a few minutes to describe what we knew about UFOs. Many had excellent evidence in their possession including FAA tapes and government documentation. I had an opportunity to talk to most of the witnesses and staff at great length. They are some of the finest and most knowledgeable people I have had the pleasure of meeting. Their information on UFOs far surpasses most other ufologists. Dr. Steven Greer should be congratulated for finding these insiders and organizing the Disclosure Project. The press conference held at the National Press Club on May 9th was excellent. I talked with several reporters afterwards who were very impressed. They had never seen so many cameras and reporters at a press conference, at least not since President Reagan was there over twenty years ago.

Furthermore, the two hundred reporters stayed for hours applauding until the very end. I was told that at most press conferences the reporters leave in a few minutes. I could see a major shift in their mindset as one after another the witnesses testified. I felt many debunkers changed their minds about the reality of UFOs. They indicated it would be tough to get their editors to publish this material but they had a new respect for the subject. Judging by the questions and interest I personally received from the Dateline, Mexican TV, and BCC, the UFO Disclosure is gaining powerful allies. Let us be realistic, it is not easy to change the minds and the inherent paradigm shattering implications of this information. These very skeptical reporters were amazed to see credible proof of ETs and UFOs. We made valiant efforts after the press conference to reach every Senator and Representative in Congress. The congressmen are concerned about their jobs and it will be interesting to see if even one has the patriotism and courage of Gerald Ford who requested hearings as a congressman in 1966.

The Disclosure Project would likely have reached a much greater audience if the FBI had not released information that thousands of critical files in the Timothy McVeigh case had not been disclosed to his lawyers. It seems rather strange that all this "missing" data concerning the Oklahoma City case had suddenly been found and was released at the most critical time when the Disclosure Project was ready to hit the headlines. Most people assume it is a foregone conclusion that McVeigh will still be executed. The only purpose can be to prolong his execution in order to control the content of all the major media. McVeigh claims the bombing was the result of FBI action at Waco. He is not contesting his execution, but the Internet is full of stories indicating Iraqi involvement in the bombing.

The Disclosure Project has fired its first cannon shot heard around the world by an estimated billion people. The main goal was not designed to reveal any "smoking gun" evidence, at this time but to request immunity for other witnesses and to obtain Congressional hearings. This is a major first step. I encourage all UFO organizations to hold similar press briefings, call radio talk shows, and contact their Congressmen. DISCLOSURE PROJECT AND THE WRIGHT BROTHERS

On May 9, 2001, I spoke at the National Press Club to several hundred reporters with twenty former government employees attempting to prove the reality of UFOs. Although the several hundred reporters and television cameraman were enthusiastic, the national news coverage was less than expected. Ranger wrote and reminded me that when the Wright Brothers had their first powered manned flight, they sent out a press release first and the only press person to attend was a woman reporter from a local newspaper. After the flight she returned to the paper and wrote the story. When she turned it in to the editor "She Was Fired" because after all we all know that humans cannot fly. She obviously was lying and of course her story never ran! Two years after their first flight and many longer successful flights the Scientific American Magazine was still claiming it was a hoax, and they weren't really flying! The Wright Brothers had to take their plane to New York City and fly in circles over the city to convince people they could actually fly!! Therefore, human nature hasn't changed much since then. Thanks to ranger116@webtv.net

Editor's Note: We encourage the New York reporters to look up over New York, particularly at sunrise and sunset for the UFOs.

NEW YORK SIGHTINGS OF FLYING SAUCERS

RUSSELL PARK -- Paul M. Davis writes my friends and I have been going to the Mohawk Valley in upstate New York near Ilion. Year after year we saw flying saucers in the night sky. They performed incredible flight performances, step maneuvers, hovering motionless then shooting from east to west in a split second. I believe they were under intelligent control because they were able to perform hot rod like movements and avoid each other in unison. These are not just lights in the sky, but metallic objects that seem to emit some kind of plasma trail. I suspect that that is the reason why they look fuzzy in photographs. My friends and I had experienced seeing strange lights in the woods, very bright, and orangish in color.

We walked through strange hot and cold force field like pockets of air. It would go from 70 degrees at night to be instant of approximately 30 degrees below zero then walking out of the zone to encounter the next patch of air that was over 102 degrees Fahrenheit. I bent down to tie my boots and noticed strange footprints in the mud that seemed to start and stop as if this thing was beamed up or picked up from that spot. I used my flashlight to examine the print. I am familiar with most animal foot and paw prints as well as humans boots, sneakers, or shoes. This was not like any of those prints. The prints were from an animal that must have been bipedal as it had a curve or horizontal instep to it. It also had three toes and no pattern name or sneaker tread on the bottom of the print. I came back the next day after it had rained. The prints were all damaged except for one. I got a shovel and a box and tried to transplant the entire foot print, feeling that this was better then copying it with plaster or fiberglass resin. The print was so water logged that it fell apart as I tried to transfer it to the box. I was very disappointed that I did not get the print. At least it would have been some sort of proof.

The biggest mistake began when my cousin Israel DuPont and I went into the park one night with our flashlights to poke around looking for more alien footprints. We found nothing. We approached a soccer field near some giant water tanks near the main road. We were again confronted with flying disks in the night sky flying about erratically. We decided to sit down and watch the show. A few minutes passed. I noted that my watch read 2:00 AM. We were to be picked up within the next half hour. We sat across from each other and began to talk. A few moments later my cousin Israel said, "What's that over your head?" I flashed my flashlight up above my head in a signal like motion. The next thing we recall is coming to slowly in great muscular and nerve pain. I tried to focus my eyes. Some type of blinding white light had attacked us. I could hear my cousin moaning in pain. He was as stunned as I was. I called out to him. "What was that?" and looked at my watch and 20 minutes had passed. We ran through the woods and barely caught our ride 2:30 AM ride. (To be continued) Thanks to Paul M. Davis and MUFON HQ.

NEW YORK ABDUCTION

RUSSELL PARK -- Paul M. Davis writes, We had seen several UFOs in the park and experienced twenty minutes of missing time. Several weeks later, I began having awful demonic alien nightmares. I became a nervous fearful person soon after. I have been put on medication to keep me calm. I was able to recall the incident fully. The alien craft came down. It was noiseless. I assume it had landing gear because it was not resting on its belly. I saw a ramp open as if inviting me in. I went up the ramp ducking as I went in, the floor of the ramp felt strange on the bottom of my feet. Almost like a skin more then a metal ramp. I went inside where I noticed it was somewhat dimly lit. I did not see my cousin Israel anywhere.

Before me were huge octagonal metallic walls or doors, about 9 feet high. The inside of the craft appeared to be larger then the outside of the craft. Each wall had a large symbol that looked like a different complex pattern burned into it. I began to receive messages in my head and turned to see three gray aliens with large heads and child like bodies sitting around some sort of biological hi tech computer device. Wearing tight diver like suits, they did not look up at me. I asked questions with my mind. I got answers quickly. I asked, "What are you and where are you from?" I was informed that these creatures were advanced bipedal animals with the soul or spirit of demons with great scientific knowledge that we on earth could not begin to understand. Their physics seems to have no limits. I was very shocked by all this and prayed to God for help. I began fighting heart palpitations, shallow breathing, and tunnel vision. I fought to keep my senses.

The ship was surprisingly simple and the floor had an interesting structure and design similar to cutting an orange in half and seeing those lines coming out from the center of a single focused point. There were no windows but I believe they were behind the octagonal doors. I was told that each symbol on the doors was of an advanced demonic language. One symbol was the equivalent of a massive database of knowledge. I asked them, "How do you navigate through space and survive?" I was told that they used their minds for navigational purposes. A biological to digital control as best as they could explain it to me. It took three aliens to properly fly and navigate this craft for interstellar travel.

I could see the top of a cylinder that was like looking at an advanced 3-d computer monitor with images stacked over images, like a hologram. The screen was round like a computer monitor that was laid face up. I saw star charts or lines connecting constellations and it had an alien font or hieroglyphic data on the outer rim of this device. The aliens told me that they made it work by placing their hands on what I could only describe as a control panel. The aliens placed their hands into the indentation that matched their hand shape perfectly. They had two fingers with an opposable thumb. It was clearly an advanced computer keyboard. Thanks to MUFON's Director John Schuessler for this sighting report that is under further investigation.

MONOLITHS OF MARS

Mars is filled with strange anomalies that point to possible alien artifacts from ancient Martian civilizations, possible ET bases and even modern Martian life. The Mar's artifacts infer that life forms have simply moved underground on Mars. I have been in large underground installations in Turkey, and the US. Caves in Puerto Rico reach a startling twenty stories high. Asteroids and heavy radiation have bombarded Mars, so it is quite logical for any life forms to move underground. New images show perfectly regular prismatic structures are embedded in the Martian surface. These monoliths similar to the carved rocks at Stonehenge in England are inexplicable as carved natural phenomena. I have called JPL and spoken with some of their scientists with doctorates. I have only a master's degree but with experience in photo analysis.

It is reasonable that within nature we might see something that looks like a human face or a frog in the natural landscape. However, it seems beyond reason that and statistical mathematics that the large numbers of cultural-like features on Mars can be natural. I see what could be described as a fort and with imagination an alien base. I see possible ancient cities and fortifications. In the spring, Mars turns green near the poles as the ice melts. In close inspection of the green areas we see branches like plants. Many plants and trees grow with a trunk, branches and smaller twigs that hold leaves or needles as in pine trees. With the coming of spring, green plant like foliage or moss is growing on the planet's surface. Mars photographs show a plant like design where only snow or landscape was present. It is my opinion that plants are growing there. NASA's answer is "No comment"? I feel the scientists at JPL must be able to see what I can see. Forget the Mars Face the moment, that may only be a freak of nature, but there is an ancient city around it.

Critical analyses by NASA cannot reveal what is apparent until it becomes politically acceptable to find life on Mars. My geologist friends and I can think of no natural process or photographic problem that can explain these anomalies. It is my opinion that Mars once had life and a civilization. We can assume that there are intelligent races besides the human race. The same concepts or religions that built the Mars Monoliths may have carried this knowledge to Earth. Because of my personal encounters with UFOs I believe they exist, therefore I interpret the images very differently than someone who feels alien life they does not exist. Each person carries prejudices that can color their objectiveness, but I'm 90% sure life existed on Mars and probably still does.

NASA'S MARS PROBLEM

By Erich A. Aggen, Jr.

NASA continues to peddle nonsense about the anomalies on Mars. The so-called "catbox" photo of the Mars Face, for example, does not disprove the artificiality of this artifact--it only demonstrates that NASA is willing to go to any lengths to keep the lid on the Martian pressure cooker!

The Enterprise Mission (www.enterprisemission.com) has shown that NASA had to do some fancy photo manipulation in order to fabricate such a poor quality image. Unfortunately, like the propaganda about various individuals faking crop circles, the media has swallowed the bait and blithely accepted these bogus explanations without critical reexamination.

Three clearer images of the Mars Face were taken by the Mars Global Surveyor AFTER NASA released its bogus catbox version. These sharper images prove that NASA duplicitously doctored the original Surveyor image in an effort to suppress any signs of intelligent life on Mars.

As more and more evidence has accumulated proving that intelligent life once existed (or perhaps still exists) on Mars NASA's typical knee-jerk response has been to attack the source, discredit the evidence and obfuscate the truth by manufacturing deceptive academic rebuttals. NASA has learned that if you couch your answers in a sea of scholarly credentials that even the most bald-faced lies will be accepted as fact.

The latest bald-faced lie that NASA has spun is its explanation of the so-called "glass tunnels" or "glass worms" found in photographs of the Martian surface.

The "glass worms" are enigmatic tubular structures discovered inside canyons in the Martian desert at 40 degrees North latitude and 27 degrees West Longitude.

The longest glass tube is about a mile in length and several hundred feet wide. It is apparently attached to the wall of a desert canyon near the bottom of the canyon. The tubes appear to have supporting ribs at regular intervals and seem to be translucent with light reflecting off one section of the tube. They defy any known geological explanation.

NASA has attempted to explain away the glass tubes as merely "sand dunes" analogous "to those in terrestrial deserts." Thus far, however, NASA has failed to produce any photographic evidence to back up its claim. The fact is, no such photographic evidence exists because there are no known earthly "analogs" to the Martian structures! NASA knows there are no sand dunes on Earth that can attach themselves to the sides of canyon walls!

Some of the other major questions NASA has yet to answer about Mars are:

(1) Why did they deliberately fake the true colors of the Martian surface and sky by making them redder and pinker? Was a blue Martian sky too earthlike? Were the greenish patches on brown Martian rocks in the original Viking and Pathfinder images too blatantly lifelike for NASA to glibly cover up? Was this another attempt to silence advocates of life on Mars?

(2) Researchers have recently found photographic evidence of possible standing pools of liquid water on the Martian surface. NASA has always claimed it is impossible for liquid water to exist on the Martian surface because of the low atmospheric pressure--is this another NASA lie? Is Mars more earthlike than we have been taught?

(3) Why are they hiding the truth about the supposedly "failed" spacecraft sent to Mars? In February of 2000, Photo analysts at the National Imagery and Mapping Agency (NIMA) reported they had located the missing Mars Polar Lander spacecraft and that it "appears INTACT on the surface, sitting atop its trio of landing legs." NASA was quick to deny the accuracy of the NIMA data because they had previously claimed the spacecraft had crashed into the Martian surface. To date, NASA is doggedly sticking to this bogus explanation for the so-called failure of the Polar Lander. In a related curious development, Dave Pieri, Ph.D., an earth and space sciences engineer with JPL, recently stated in a message posted on the Internet that he had "labored over literally thousands of Viking Mars orbiter Images, hundreds of Mars Observer images, many, many, many Landsat, ASTER, and airphotos of the earth..." The rather startling part of this message concerns the MARS OBSERVER images--apparently this engineer had examined photos FROM A SPACECRAFT THAT NASA CLAIMED IT HAD LOST CONTACT WITH IN 1992!!

MISSOURI BRIGHT MOVING LIGHT FOLLOWS TRUCK

CHILLICOTHE -- Nancy writes that on April 28, 2001, I was in a semi-truck with my husband going down Highway 65 in Northern Missouri. The night was dark but the stars were not out yet. I watched out my window as we drove as the big Very Bright Light seemed to follow our truck from the West. It was just shining like the moon, but this was staying beside us miles and miles away. I finally told my husband about the light and he saw it. So finally I kept telling him, "We turned clear around and it was still on the side of us." We stopped to wash our truck to at the car wash and the bright light stopped with us. I said, "Look it is still there, we should have lost site of it long time ago, it has been 80 to 90 miles since I started watching this." My husband opened his door to get out and the light seemed to turn and show a red glow and head due west and flew out of site," said Nancy. Thanks to Nancy walkerja@klmtel.net

MARYLAND RECTANGULAR UFO

BALTIMORE -- Bill and Linda Bean write that he and his wife witnessed a UFO on May 7, 2001, at 11:25 PM. They were on their way home driving on I- 695 North, and as they approached Exit 12 they noticed a very slow, almost hovering craft. It appeared to be about 15,000 feet in the air, and was descending. The object had two big white very bright likes and they were blinking on and off once per second. They continued to watch but could not pull over because the shoulder was too narrow. They approached Exit 15, and the UFO descended to be less than a 1000 feet in altitude. The lights on the bottom of the craft were red and were constant without blinking. Bill says, "I could see structure behind the bottom lights and as we passed the next exit, I could see the unlit backside of the craft. The street and building lights provided enough light for us to see the structure of the UFO, it was rectangular in shape and about the height of a double-decker bus. The craft under structure was smaller than the top and came down to 45-degree angles on the sides. The angles were going outward and there were four red lights on this part of the craft. The UFO descended to 500 feet and the lights got even brighter. We finally lost sight of it behind some trees off of Rt. 40 West. "I am sure that other drivers saw this craft since it was too big, low, and bright to be unnoticed," says Bill. If anyone else out there saw this craft, please E-mail Bill Bean at bllin@erols.com

WASHINGTON FLYING TRIANGLE

TROUT LAKE -- On May 9, 2001, John and Kim Novak, wrote that James Gilliland, another adult witness and I saw a large, very slow moving triangle fly nearly over head. The craft was first spotted right underneath the Big Dipper and headed in a southwest direction at a very slow rate of speed until it disappeared above the trees at 10:20 PM. There was absolutely no sound. I extended my hand out several times to gauge the size of it and I was able to just about cover it's size with my fist. The entire length of time it was in my view was 4-5 minutes. Either this was three independent lights each about the size of an average star in the sky traveling in an absolutely perfect triangular pattern, or it was one very large triangular shaped object with a light at each point.

We tend to think it was one object based on the fact that it appeared to be tipping on it's side several times. All the lights moved exactly the way a large triangular object with a light on each point would making a maneuver like this. Someone inside the house turned on all the lights right when James got the video camera on it. So he had to pick up the camera and run to a shaded spot. He wasn't able to see the triangle through the viewfinder, but just pointing the camera at it zooming in and out hoping for the best. He was able to get a few shots of it. Another note of interest in this sighting is that Kim and I had our 3 year old son out skywatching with us for the first time. We asked him to show us where the spaceships were. He pointed right to the area where the triangle was first spotted less than two minutes before it appeared. UFO Investigator Probes 'Best Close Encounter' Yet

By Michael Sangiacomo
<http://www.cleveland.com/>
5-29-1

Denise Knitz saw a strange egg-shaped object in the sky as she drove along Interstate 75 near Bowling Green. It was low and slow, kissing the treetops until it suddenly streaked across the night sky.

At least 17 other travelers say they also saw the object Oct. 31.

John Timmerman of Lakeview, near Lima, was not one of the 18, but he smiles when he talks about it. He says Knitz's sighting may be the best "close encounter" he has investigated in more than 50 years because it had "multiple, credible witnesses giving the same very specific information."

Timmerman, treasurer of the Center for UFO Studies in Chicago, has been investigating mysterious objects in the night sky and silvery discs in the daylight since 1948. Even though he has "never been blessed with the experience" of having seen a UFO himself, the 77-year-old retired banker from Lima is convinced that something is out there.

"I believe that the source of these sightings is extraterrestrial," he said. "We're being visited by something from a place so different that we can't even comprehend it. People always criticize the lack of a perfect, clear photograph of a UFO. Maybe these things cannot be photographed at all."

Skeptics like Lawrence Krauss, chairman of the physics department at Case Western Reserve University, argue that believing UFOs are piloted by extraterrestrials is ridiculous.

"Consider the enormous amount of time and energy that would be needed to get here," he said. "It would take the energy of a star to do it. And why would they do it just to drop in and take off again? Also, the government has a huge amount of software to detect anything entering our atmosphere. They would see it."

When asked about government surveillance of UFOs, Timmerman laughed at alleged disinterest by federal authorities.

"The government pretends not to care about UFOs," said Timmerman. "How could they ignore something with that kind of impact? I think the government has been having high-performance aircraft taking pictures of these things for years. They don't need us to tell them about UFOs; they know all about them."

The official line

Timmerman worked closely with the late J. Allen Hynek, the founder of the Center for UFO Studies. Hynek worked with the U.S. Air Force on Project Blue Book, the official investigation into flying-saucer sightings from 1952 to 1969.

The Air Force concluded that there was insufficient evidence to prove the existence of alien visitations. Timmerman said Hynek was unhappy with the reports and complained that the Air Force investigators merely used him for legitimacy in the UFO field.

Timmerman noted the thousands of reports each year from people across the country who say they saw strange things in the sky. The reports come from police officers, pilots, professionals, politicians - people from all levels of the social strata.

Krauss said that in order for scientists to take note of alien life, someone would have to come up with extraordinary evidence, such as a chunk of alien technology, or a chunk of an alien. Photos and eyewitness testimony, no matter how credible, are not enough, he said.

So volunteers such as Timmerman continue to plug along, looking for that unimpeachable sighting. He approaches his job cautiously, looking for logical explanations to the phenomena.

Defying explanation

Over the years, he has interviewed several thousand people who claimed to have seen unidentified flying objects. He said most of the sightings are easily explained as high-flying aircraft; the bright planet Venus (often mistaken for a UFO); advertising blimps; or hoaxes.

"Then there are the sightings that we cannot explain," he said. "Those are the ones I investigate."

Ohio, with 356 sightings, ranks ninth in the nation for the overall number of UFO sightings since the mid-1980s, according to the National UFO Reporting Center in Seattle. The Web site at www.nwlink.com/~ufoctr/ lists brief reports on all the sightings.

Timmerman, who concentrates on sightings in Ohio, wishes he could conduct more thorough investigations, but he is constrained by time, travel and finances. He has no high-tech laboratory to study soil samples or plant fibers but consults with scientists and astronomers frequently.

"At the very least, I document what happened," he said. "I have thousands of reports filed by people who have seen UFOs and hundreds of taped interviews. I'm just one guy, but I do what I can. I feel I can at least pass on this wealth of information and raw data to someone who will take up where I left off someday."

He said he has become something of an expert in interviewing people who have seen UFOs, and he can spot a prankster in a minute.

It was real

He was thrilled to speak with Knitz, 42, of Bloomdale, who contacted him because no one else seemed very interested in what she and others saw that Halloween night. "She and the others saw something very extraordinary," he said. "I would love to know exactly what it was."

Knitz said she was making a delivery for Chuck's Pizza in Cygnet and had just gotten off the Cygnet exit of I-75. She looked right, toward a field, and saw something she will never forget.

"This black craft drifted out over the trees," Knitz said. "It was sort of like an egg on its side with this weird blue-white glow at the back. It was about the size of three cars and had no wings, no wheels, no tail. It was perfectly silent. It was headed right over I-75, not very high off the ground, and it just hung there."

"Then it pivoted about 30 degrees and there was a big burst of light from the back of it and it took off," she continued. "It was there one second, gone the next, leaving a trail of light across the sky."

Knitz said she delivered the pizza, then returned to the area, where she met Tim O'Neil, a classical piano teacher from Michigan. He and a friend were driving home from a Florida vacation. The UFO was still visible.

"It was not far from where I was before," she said. "The man [O'Neil] pointed out over the woods and the thing was there, hovering above the trees. This time, it had orange and green lights on it. They said they tried to get closer to it, but when they did, their car started to lose power. They turned around and fled."

She said she was going to report the sight to police, but O'Neil did it first.

"Our bad luck was that it happened on Halloween," she said. "They thought it was just another crazy Halloween stunt. But it was not; it was real."

"People have told me it was a blimp," she added. "I've seen plenty of blimps in my life, and they don't move like that. I wish I had a logical explanation. The shape and the way it moved really freaked me out."

Timmerman said he may never figure out what Knitz saw, but not for lack of trying. His wife, Margaretha, thinks he tries too hard.

"I want to enjoy our retirement, travel, and do things together," she said. "He's working harder now than he ever did."

UFO SURPRISES A TRACTOR DRIVER IN SOUTHERN SPAIN

On Friday, April 13, 2001, Jesus Maldonado, 40, a tractor operator at Finca Buenavista farm near Alhama de Granada in southern Spain, "boarded his tractor and began plowing. At 8:30 a.m., he became aware of an intense light towards the east. At first he thought the light belonged to a motorcycle owned by one of the farm's goatherders, who was coming over for a chat."

"Suddenly, the light went off, and he was able to see a truncated conical object rising from the ground to an altitude of three meters (10 feet). The object might have been three meters (10 feet) in diameter and two meters (6 feet, 6 inches) tall. Its appearance was metallic and of a reddish-orange color."

The object "was able to split into two parts--the lower (segment) roughly one-third of the object, and the upper part, roughly two-thirds of the object, which rotated very slowly from left to right. The object had no windows and no lights and lacked signs or emblems on its structure."

"The UFO was 200 meters (660 feet) away from Maldonado." The field was filled with barley. However, because the Spaniard had only started plowing, most of the field was full of stubble from last year's crop.

"Maldonado stopped the tractor's motor and observed the object. Something appeared to protrude from the center of the object area," but at an oblique angle which prevented him from seeing it clearly.

"The object began to fly towards the witness, moving along at an exasperatingly slow rate of speed. The witness was standing on slightly higher terrain as the object moved towards him, and it was also rising very slowly to match the terrain. Maldonado suddenly felt afraid and stated, 'I didn't know whether to start crying or to run away.'"

"The object placed itself at a distance of 50 meters (150 feet) from the witness, stopping its forward motion and beginning to retreat from him at a maddeningly slow rate of speed. It went beyond its (original) landing point and placed itself over a neighboring farm known as La Polilla. It then stopped and began heading towards the witness once again. However, when it passed over him, heading west, it was now quite high in the air."

"The witness kept watching it as the object rose very high into the sky and departed." (Muchas gracias a Scott Corrales, auto de los libros, Chupacabras and Other Mysteries y Forbidden Mexico; y Antonio Salinas de la Sociedade de Investigaciones Biofisicas para esas noticias.
